Weather is a part of nature. Weather is the state of the atmosphere at a particular place during a short period of time: heat or cold, wetness or dryness, calm or storm, clearness or cloudness. Weathermen study natural features. They collect information from ships, planes weather stations and space stations. So they can understand what the weather will be like during the next few days. Then they make a weather forecast. With the help of weathermen we know what clothes to choose for the day.

The weather forecast.
