VEGETARIANISM

Until recently, vegetarianism was fairly uncommon in Britain, and it is still considered strange by some. But since the 1960s, its popularity has increased greatly, to the (1) _____ that high street stores stock a huge variety of products for vegetarians.

The reasons people give for not eating meat are (2) _____. Perhaps most vegetarians do it for moral reasons, arguing that it is (3) _____ to kill. The opposing point of view is that it is (4) _____ for us to kill for food, and that we have evolved to do so. Still, there are societies where eating meat is not allowed because it is (5) _____ their religion.

There are other good reasons to (6) _____ meat, one of which is the inefficiency of livestock farming. A simple (7) _____ of soya bean plants can actually (8) _____ 200 times as much protein as the number of cattle which could be raised on the same (9) _____ of land, so a vegetarian world might be a world without hunger.

Although it is, in theory, cheaper to eat only vegetables, vegetarianism is most (10) _____ in richer countries such as Germany and Britain, where many people (11) _____ meat for health reasons. In these countries, at least, it (12) _____ to be a matter of choice rather than a necessity.
