Homework (виписати із тексту позитивні і негативні сторони використання Інстаграму)

a) Read the text, outline the pros and cons of using Instagram.

Instagram not only connects users with each other, but it links to existing social accounts, including Facebook, Twitter and Flickr so that photos from Instagram can be shared directly with these accounts. Teens prefer Instagram because they can follow the friends they care about, and avoid the bulk of sponsored posts and random content that appear on the feeds of sites like Facebook. For many teens, Instagram functions as a “digital diary” they can share with their closest friends. These aren't random moments, however: those are for Snapchat. Instagram is for the best photos that present a teen in the best light — the most flattering selfies, the coolest things they're out doing or eating. This of course has its dark sides, as noliikes or negative comments can lower a teen's self-esteem. It can also be a factor to screen addiction – which should be a serious concern for all parents, given that 14 percent of all Instagram users report checking their account while driving.

Instagram leaves the door wide open for teens to share too much personal information, including full first and last name, age, gender, email address and phone number. Similarly, geo-tagging — one of the most popular Instagram features — can reveal your teen's location, and the exact spot that a picture was taken. Instagram is filled with teenagers who share photos and make comments in groups. It is, therefore, a platform that is ripe for gossip and harassment. Since it is online, the bullying can follow children home from school and leave them with no safe place. Young girls are especially at risk. The most common form of Instagram bullying is simply posting embarrassing or humiliating photos of the victim, which the victim would clearly not want made public.
